CLOSING REMARKS
ZIOGRAIN CORREA
AFC Parent

 On behalf of the Board of Directors of Advocates for Children of New York, let me welcome you to AFC's 2014 Spring Benefit.

Over four decades, AFC has established its place as a leader in education advocacy and reform, championing the rights of New York City students and families and achieving systemic change that improves access to a quality public education for all. We recently welcomed the first new mayor in 12 years, and AFC's expertise on everything from early childhood education to school discipline has been an important resource for the City during the transition.

A noteworthy transition has occurred at AFC, too. Since 2004, Jamie Levitt has been Board President, leading this organization with intelligence, compassion, and vision. As she steps down, we thank Jamie for ten years of admirable service. I am honored to be following in her footsteps.

We are all enormously grateful to our Sponsors, whose generosity raised over $1.4 million dollars this year! Thanks to the 2014 Benefit Committee and to my Co-Chairs, all of whom worked hard to make tonight such a success. And congratulations to our honorees, Gene Ludwig and Al-Yasid Johnson; it is we who feel honored to be sharing our night with you.

Cheers to our Executive Director, Kim Sweet, and her extraordinary staff, who work tirelessly to improve the lives of the children and families we serve. And thank you to AFC's pro bono partners and my Board and Junior Board colleagues—AFC could not do its vital work without their many contributions.

Thank you again for coming and for supporting Advocates for Children of New York. I hope you enjoy the evening.

Al-Yasid is a 21-year-old high school graduate on the autism spectrum. His sister, Ina, first contacted AFC when Al was 10 because he was being isolated in a classroom by himself due to a misunderstanding with another classmate. Al was not receiving any of his mandated special education services and hardly any instruction as he sat in a room by himself all day.

AFC helped find a new program at a public school for Al, and he continued to attend this program into high school. AFC also successfully sued for Al to attend a residential summer program for seven years in a row.

In his senior year, Al's family became aware that his high school had completely failed to prepare him to receive a high school diploma, something he was very capable of achieving. His school had neglected to administer the state tests that Al needed to graduate and had not provided the required credits. Instead, the school had let Al fall through the cracks, slating him to receive a special education diploma that would not allow him to attend college.

As a result, AFC requested a hearing to secure funding for Al to attend Gersh Academy, a private school for students on the spectrum. AFC succeeded in obtaining payment for the cost of Al's tuition, as well as the cost of his meals while at school. For two years, Al worked to obtain the final credits he needed and prepared for the state exams. Al thrived at Gersh and graduated last June with a bang—passing his final Regents exam with an 89! Al is currently applying to college and aspires to a career in music production or media.

ADVOCATES FOR CHILDREN
AT A GLANCE

Since 1971, AFC has been speaking out for the children and youth who are at greatest risk for failure or discrimination in school because of their poverty, race, disability, immigrant or English Language Learner status, sexual orientation, gender identity, homelessness, or involvement in the foster care or juvenile justice systems. No other city-wide organization is like AFC: working in the trenches to provide these vulnerable students and their families with urgently needed guidance and advocacy, while at the same time, pressing for systemic reforms that benefit all students, even those who are most challenging to educate. Our efforts on the individual and policy levels inform and strengthen each other, further increasing our effectiveness for the communities we serve.

FOR OVER FOUR DECADES AFC HAS MADE
COUNTLESS FUTURES BRIGHTER

By Solving Problems for Parents in Need:

Any parent of a New York City public school student knows how difficult it can be to navigate a school system that has 1.1 million children. Our Jill Chaifetz Education Helpline is a crucial resource for New York families having problems with special education, transportation, school suspensions, transfers, and more. Our experienced lawyers and advocates work with parents to get their children the educational support they need in school.

By Sharing Our Unique Expertise in Education Advocacy:

We know that one of the best ways to reach the most isolated students is to collaborate with other organizations that serve them. AFC is currently partnering with twenty-one organizations funded by the Robin Hood Foundation in areas like child welfare, juvenile justice, and domestic violence. In addition, AFC's highly skilled staff can be found in foster care agencies and community-based organizations across the five boroughs, sharing their expertise in educational advocacy, providing legal representation to families, and helping these partners build their capacity to advocate for the educational needs of the children they serve.

By Understanding and Addressing the Education-Related Challenges Confronting the City's Most Vulnerable Children:

AFC proudly serves on the frontlines of the fight to champion the education-related rights of children and youth who are most likely to experience failure or discrimination in school because of factors beyond their control.

CHILDREN WITH DISABILITIES

AFC's multi-pronged approach is a model for education advocacy throughout the city and state. First, we provide one-on-one legal representation and advocacy to help low-income families of children with disabilities get the educational services and support they need. Second, we offer free workshops throughout the city to bring training, information, and direct assistance on the education system to parents and the professionals who work with them. Third, we address systemic problems with the education of students with disabilities through our policy work and when necessary, federal litigation. And finally, we coordinate and lead a collaborative effort called the ARISE Coalition, which brings together more than fifty different organizations and individuals to press for policy change to benefit children with disabilities in the New York City schools.

IMMIGRANT STUDENTS & ENGLISH LANGUAGE LEARNERS

AFC's bilingual project staff advocates on behalf of individual parents and their children, trains parents and community-based organizations serving immigrant families on education-related rights, monitors access to interpreters and translated materials in the city's schools, and collaborates with other groups to support communities seeking to improve outcomes for immigrants and English Language Learners.

EARLY CHILDHOOD

AFC's Early Childhood Education Project provides individual case assistance, community education, and policy advocacy to improve access to early childhood education for low-income children, ages 0–5, so that children can enter kindergarten prepared to succeed.

CHILDREN IN THE CHILD WELFARE SYSTEM

AFC's Project Achieve advocates for the educational needs of children in or at risk of placement in foster care while building capacity in the agencies that serve them. Project staff operates satellite offices in child welfare agencies, providing on-site assistance and training to caseworkers, birth parents, and foster parents so that they can address the education-related issues affecting their children. Project staff also conducts policy advocacy on the city and state levels to improve educational outcomes for students in foster care.

STUDENTS FACING DISCIPLINARY ISSUES
& COURT-INVOLVED YOUTH

AFC's School Justice Project (SJP) provides case advocacy and legal representation to address the educational needs of youth facing school suspension or court involvement. Through relationships built with social services agencies, community-based organizations, and community courts, project staff are able to reach the students who often fall through the cracks. The Project also provides trainings and technical assistance to parents, young people, and the professionals who work with them. Finally, project staff advocate for systemic reform with respect to school discipline and school climate, as well as the education of court-involved youth.

STUDENTS IN TEMPORARY HOUSING

AFC operates the New York State Technical and Education Assistance Center for Homeless Students (NYS-TEACHS), which focuses on building the capacity of school districts throughout the state to improve educational opportunities for homeless children and youth.

ADVOCATES for CHILDREN of NEW YORK

PROTECTING EVERY CHILD'S RIGHT TO LEARN

ZIOGRAIN CORREA, JR. AND HIS DAD, ZIOGRAIN CORREA

*F*or more than 40 years, Advocates for Children of New York has promoted access to the best education New York can provide for the 1.1 million students in New York City's public schools. We work to empower families and communities, advocate for the educational rights of individual students and advance systemic reform.

Advocates for Children of New York works on behalf of children and youth who are at greatest risk for failure or discrimination in school because of their poverty, race, disability, immigrant or English Language Learner status, sexual orientation, gender identity, homelessness, or involvement in the foster care or juvenile justice systems.

ON BEHALF OF EVERYONE AT ADVOCATES FOR CHILDREN OF NEW YORK AND THE COUNTLESS CHILDREN WHO HAVE BEEN ABLE TO RECEIVE A QUALITY EDUCATION AS A
RESULT OF THE GENEROSITY OF OUR DONORS
AND FUNDERS, WE EXTEND A HEARTFELT
THANK YOU. WE ARE GRATEFUL TO EACH ONE OF YOU FOR SUPPORTING AFC AS WE PROTECT
EVERY CHILD'S RIGHT TO LEARN.
